Raise a glass to Winefest

Wine flowed and voices, both talking and singing, carried over the breeze at Saturday's fourth annual Great Northwest Missouri Winefest. The Winefest, which was held at Griffith Park in Mound City, MO, on Saturday, Oct. 5, saw 1,500 visitors, a fact that thrilled wine event coordinator Marilyn Alldredge.

"We were really blessed with the outcome of the day," she said, "both with the attendance and the fundraising."

The Winefest drew visitors and wineries from all parts of Missouri, including Kansas City, St. Joseph, Easton, Osborn, Weston, Rushville, Smithville and Hermann, among others. Couple Ashton Miller, from St. Joseph, and Justin Lucaro, from Kansas City, indulged in a variety of wines and believed the drive to Winefest was worth the experience.

"I like that there's no riffraff, Lucaro said, "and it's quiet."

Miller, blushing from her partner's statement, added, "This is perfect."

As crowds mingled around wine and food booths, snatches of commentary drifted from person to person: "...strawberry rhubarb..." "try this one..." "I love this winery..." "did you have the pie?"

Mound City's Ruthie Steele, purveyor of the much-talked about grape pies, described the fried goodies as a cross between blackberry and blueberry pies. While she gave out samples, Winefest committee member Deb Powers commented, "No sampling here, I already know they're good."

Steele, whose crescent-shaped pies rapidly left their glass platter, said, "They're an old-fashioned thing, really, grape pies."

At other booths, vendors sold everything from jewelry to honey to fruits, vegetables and freshly baked breads. Despite the tasty offerings, however, most of the attendees' attention was given to the nine wine booths. Especially popular was Tipple Hill Winery's Sassy Sisters, a plum and blueberry wine.

"Lovely," Julie Burke from Rock Port, MO, said. "It is delicious."

Crowds also gathered at LaDogaRidge Winery's booth for the Chococherry Kiss and Strawberry Rhubarb wines.

Martha Drake, a member of the Capers, a trio with an Andrews Sisters repertoire, waited with fellow singer Bev Culver as person after person was served Strawberry Rhubarb wine. Drake and Culver didn't mind the wait, though; the Winefest was too much fun.

"I just think it's wonderful," Culver said. "It's great."

Musical groups, including the Sisters of St. Francis, a quartet of nuns from Savannah, MO, and guitar-playing singers from Kansas City, Platte City and Mound City, serenaded the crowd, many of whom danced along.

"They are fabulous," musician Fred Mares said of one of the first musical acts.

Joe Laukemper, who proudly brandished his bottles of Blushing Mallard, agreed that the Winefest, as a whole, was special.

"All the different wineries have a history here," Laukemper said. "There are incredible stories."

Attendee Gwen Knowles, a resident of Mound City for seven years, agreed. "It's really nostalgic."

As the sunny day gave way to a chilly evening, bottles dried up, and patrons ambled out through the gates to return home.

"It was very good," Alldredge said. "We were pleased."

State Theater to celebrate 25th anniversary

The State Theater will mark its 25th year of hosting performing arts acts in Mound City, MO, on Sunday, Oct. 13, 2013. To honor the occasion, musician Billy McGuigan will perform "Rock Legends," a rock and roll revue, and the State Theater Arts Council will host a reception with hors d'oeuvres, coffee and tea at 3 p.m. at the White Rose Restaurant following the show.

The State Theater Arts Council, which formed in 1988, began leasing the theater from the City of Mound City on a $1-per-year contract. Monetary donations and volunteer labor allowed the Arts Council to renovate the theater, which had previously functioned as a cinema. The first shows following the reopening in October 1989 featured the St. Louis Brass Quintet and puppeteer Mary Lou Anderson with her cast of quirky characters, including Smarty Pants, Buffie Bunny and Prudence Sprinkle Pot.

Additional renovations took place in 1996 after the Arts Council raised $65,000. The donations paid for the creation of dressing rooms, a back stage, set construction space and storage areas. A final project was completed in 2011 to construct a more functional women's room. The theater itself, however, has retained its 1930's-era Art Deco style.

Over the years, the State Theater Arts Council has been instrumental in bringing out-of-town acts to Mound City and Holt County.

"For the Mound City community and the whole area, we bring quality shows at a reasonable price," State Theater Arts Council President Mari Ferguson said. "Many people wouldn't go to Branson or Omaha to see a show, [but] we can provide an exposure to the arts."

Ferguson is hoping for a full house, 300 people, to attend the anniversary celebration and enjoy the music of Buddy Holly, Elvis Presley, Jerry Lee Lewis, The Beatles, The Who, Elton John, Billy Joel and Tom Petty.

Mo' money, mo' problems in Holt County, the nation

Waves of amazement, frustration following government shutdown reach Holt County

The stream of bickering coming from Congress has now flowed down to Holt County after the government shut down on Tuesday, Oct. 1. Congress failed to meet its midnight deadline for a spending bill after negotiations over the Affordable Care Act reached a stalemate. Approximately 1.3 million federal employees have been required to work without monetary compensation, and 800,000 federal jobs deemed non-essential have been suspended. Furloughed workers are now out of work and possibly out of pay.

In Mound City, MO, few have been immune to the ramifications of Congress' failure. The USDA has closed its doors, the Squaw Creek Refuge has ceased operations and the University of Missouri Extension's nutrition programs are suspended. Farmers, children and anyone dependent on federal funding are now left with fewer resources.

The Food Power Adventure, a traveling exhibit that was scheduled to come to Holt County on Tuesday, Oct. 8, and is a part of the University of Missouri Extension program, is one such resource that has been taken away from students, according to Holt County school nurse Susan Lentz. The Extension programs, which receive $10.4 million in funding from the USDA Supplemental Nutrition Program (SNAP), serve more than 260,000 kindergarten through twelfth grade students and 78,000 adults at 1,000 schools and libraries in Missouri. The University of Missouri (MU) Extension may also be forced to lay off employees after Oct. 21.

"If it all possible, we do not want to lose these employees and the investment we have made in them," Michael Quart, MU vice provost and director of extension, said in a press release. "These employees have built valuable relationships in communities all across Missouri. Losing them would have long-lasting effects on the health and eating habits of future generations of Missouri's children."

Jordan Miller, a senior at Mound City High School, was in Washington, D.C., when the government shut down.

"We heard all kinds of things," Miller said. "Workers in the Capitol building were holding a protest...with signs and everything."

Mound City High School senior Jordan Miller - Was attending a Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) conference in Washington, D.C., when the government shutdown happened. Undeterred by the choppy waters of the nation's current political environment, Miller, who plans to study political science and career and technology teacher education with an emphasis in family consumer science at the University of Central Missouri in Warrensburg, MO, hopes to live in Washington, D.C., some day.

Miller was attending the Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) Capitol Leadership conference as one of four students chosen to represent Missouri. Thankfully, Miller, the state vice-president of development, and her fellow conference attendees were able to visit the sites Washington, D.C., has to offer, such as the Washington Monument and the Korean and Vietnam memorials. Other tourists weren't so lucky; one group of octo- and no-nagenarian World War II veterans, upon finding the World War II memorial closed, busted through the barricades.

While workers — and tourists — are hoping for the government shutdown to end quickly, the Republican and Democrat parties still haven't found any middle ground despite attempts on both sides to negotiate the current bill. The last government shutdown, which occurred in November and December of 1995 and January 1996, lasted only 21 days. That shutdown, much like the current one, was a result of static debates over the federal budget. Treasury Secretary Jacob Lew has urged Congress to come to an agreement before Oct. 17, at which point the U.S. will default on loans.

Until then, U.S. and Holt County residents will keep stretching their dollars and hoping for a reconciliation between political parties. Eventually, the rushing waters of Congressional arguments will peter out and leave the government whole and functional once more.

Store manager Gloria Morris - Fills a prescription for a customer at Rogers Pharmacy in Mound City, MO. Morris and pharmacist Nancy Johnson are available to discuss Medicare Part D enrollment options.

Rogers Pharmacy to aid in Part D decisions

The enrollment period for Medicare Part D prescription plans begins Tuesday, Oct. 15, 2013. Part D, so named for its coverage of drug medication, can be used in conjunction with other insurance plans, but understanding Part D can be tricky.

Medicare Part D offers help with prescription drug costs, but monthly premiums can vary depending on pre-existing insurance coverage. Part D is also voluntary and typically used with private insurance companies. Patients can enroll in just Part D, which is known as a "stand alone" program, or they can enroll in a Medicare Advantage program, which includes parts A (hospital coverage) and B (medical insurance); the Medicare Advantage program is also known as "Part C." Where enrollment becomes problematic is if a patient has been enrolled in Part C and has some prescription coverage, enrolling in Part D can then negate the Part C prescription coverage.

Patients also need to be aware of the Medicare "donut hole." The hole is a gap in coverage that begins when a patient's drug plan has spent a certain amount on covered drugs; in 2013 that amount was $2,970, but the amount changes yearly. After reaching the gap, a patient will pay 47.5 percent of the plan's cost for brand-name drugs. Temporarily paying the out-of-pocket cost, which comes at discount, will help the patient get out of the "donut hole."

To help patients untangle the Part D knots and avoid having to pay for mail-order medications, local pharmacists at Rogers Pharmacy in Mound City, Tarkio and St. Joseph, MO, will be available to discuss appropriate plans and answer questions. Rogers Pharmacy is located at 607 State St., Mound City, MO, and is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday. Patients can also reach the pharmacy at (660) 442-3355.

Family members are encouraged to explore the Medicare Part D options for elderly or ill family members. Enrollment for Medicare Part D ends on Saturday, Dec. 7, 2013.

Members who had been teachers shared some of their experiences in the classroom in conjunction with Fischer's discussion of Susan Elizabeth Blow.

News from Tiffany Heights nursing home

On Monday afternoon, September 30, residents at Tiffany Heights in Mound City took advantage of the beautiful day and took a road trip. They know that this has been apple picking time and residents ventured to the orchard. Residents didn't have to pick any apples as they were already picked. This is always a fun trip and everyone got a chance to have a slice of their favorite pie. Those enjoying the trip were Alois Wilkinson, Betty Elder, Inez VanOrman, Dorothy Heck, Mary Klein, Dolores Hawkins and Lois Woods.

Pastor Paul Grant and Barbara Hanlon provided Bible study on Tuesday morning. Residents held their monthly council meeting on Tuesday afternoon. This month, Brett Tubbs, R.N., D.O.N., educated the residents on the signs and symptoms expected after taking the flu shot and ways to prevent spreading the flu. This month is Residents' Rights' Month and Mandy Rhoades, S.S.D., reviewed the residents' right information with the residents. They chose Jerry Jones as the Employee of the Month. Jerry is from the Craig, MO, area and has worked for Tiffany Heights for 12 years. Jerry works in the housekeeping department. During her spare time, Jerry enjoys gardening and spending time with her grandchildren.

Residents enjoyed discussing the many different things that happen during the month of October. They are always surprised to find some interesting event and then there are some that are just a little different. A couple of the more interesting events are the Woolly Worm Festival in North Carolina and a National Storytelling Festival in Tennessee. Several facts this month include the sale of the first ballpoint pens at Gimbel's Department Store in 1945. They sold for $12.95. Residents did enjoy the story about Sweetest Day, which is October 19, and are looking forward to National Boston Cream Pie Day.

Volunteers on Thursday were Jean McCall, Barbara Hanlon, Gordon Robbins, Lucille Stull and Mary Lee Privett. Winners of the game were Charles Milby, Dolores Hawkins, Mary Klein, Dorothy Egbert and Alois Wilkinson. Inez VanOrman received a six-mile walk-n-roll certificate and Dolores Hawkins received a two-mile certificate.

Barbara Hanlon provided glamour nails on Friday morning. Games of choice were encouraged during the afternoon on Saturday.

Sunday morning services were provided by Larry Brickley and the Mound City Baptist Church family. Afternoon worship was conducted by River of Hope Fellowship.

October is National Physical Therapy Month

October has been deemed "Physical Therapy Month," and Holt County residents are encouraged to assess their own health to see if working with a physical therapist would be beneficial.

Physical therapists can provide treatment for common injuries and help with pain management. Lower back pain, running injuries, Bell's palsy, diabetes, frozen shoulders and pelvic, hip or knee pain can all be alleviated by a therapist. For baby boomers, this medical professional can also help with injuries associated with aging, such as tendinitis, meniscus tears and arthritis, and create a treatment plan. Most plans involve physical treatment techniques that promote the ability to move, reduce pain, restore function and prevent disability.

Physical therapists are available at Tiffany Heights in Mound City, MO. Tiffany Heights can be reached at (660) 442-3146.

Holt County Toy Fund draws donations

The Holt County Toy Fund, which dubbed October as "Joy for a Toy Month," has received several donations, including some from out of state.

Of the toys donated, 38 were donated anonymously by three people, two of whom live outside of Missouri. The donors heard of "Joy for a Toy Month" through word-of-mouth.

The Holt County Toy Fund also received 50 small bibles for children aged 1 month to 4 years. All toys and donations received will be distributed during the holiday season, and any funds donated will go toward gift cards for Dollar General and Mound City Thriftway.

Accident claims life of former South Holt student

A one-vehicle accident claimed the life of a former South Holt student on Sunday, October 6, 2013, at approximately 10:50 p.m. on MO Highway 46, 5 miles west of Maryville, MO. A 2007 Ford 500 pickup, driven by Damion J. Smith, age 20, of Fairfax, MO, along with passenger Jeffery A. Wooten, age 21, of Fairfax, was westbound on MO Highway 46 when Smith lost control of his vehicle on a curve. The pickup went off of the north side of the roadway when Smith overcorrected, sending the vehicle off of the south side of the roadway striking a bridge. The vehicle continued traveling south off of the roadway and down an embankment. The pickup came to rest on its wheels in a ravine facing west.

Smith was pronounced dead at the scene by the Nodaway County Coroner and transported to Schooler Funeral Home in Fairfax. Wooten sustained serious injuries and was transported by Nodaway County Ambulance to St. Francis Hospital in Maryville, MO. The driver was not wearing a safety device. It is unknown if Wooten was wearing a safety device.

The 2007 Ford 500 pickup was totaled and was towed by Kizer Tow of Maryville. Missouri State Highway Patrol Trooper R.P. Dudeck investigated the accident and was assisted by Cpl. S. E. Pritzel, Nodaway County Sheriff's Office, Skidmore Fire and Rescue, Burlington Junction Fire and Rescue and the Maryville Fire Department.

St. Oswald's Harvest Dinner

St. Oswald's in the Fields Episcopal Church in Skidmore, MO, will celebrate its 112th Harvest Festival on Sunday, Oct. 20, at 11 a.m. Rev. Martin Field, Bishop of west Missouri, will preside, and a potluck dinner will follow the service.

St. Oswald's in the Fields Episcopal Church has a long-standing history in northwest Missouri. It was named to the National Register of Historic Places in 1992, and in 1997 it became part of the Sacred Hills Regional Ministry along with St. Mary's of Savannah, MO, and St. Paul's of Maryville, MO.

The church building was modeled after the founding families' home church, St. Oswald's, in Grasmere, England. Rumor has it that the early founders decided the church would make a good sheep shed if it wasn't successful as a house of worship. St. Oswald's was built using the gable front variant of the shingle style, which was first used in the suburbs on the east coast at the end of the 19th century.

St. Oswald's is located in southeast Atchison County. Directions from Mound City are Route N for five miles north and then north on Keystone Drive for four miles. From Maryville the church is 19 miles west on Highway 46 and then four miles south on EE. From Fairfax take Highway 46 east seven miles, then four miles south on EE.

Hurst named MO Corn Merchandising Council Chairman

Kevin Hurst, a corn grower from Tarkio, MO, has been elected chairman of the Missouri Corn Merchandising Council (MCMC). The vote took place during the organization's August board meeting. Hurst assumes his new role Oct. 1, succeeding Jim Stuever of Dexter, Mo.

"I appreciate the opportunity given to me by the corn growers in Missouri and look forward to a challenging and rewarding year," Hurst said. "Missouri corn producers have faced two years of poor weather and reduced yields. I hope we can return to a normal cropping pattern and continue the educational programs that make MCMC a valuable organization."

Hurst represents corn farmers from District 1 in the northwest region of the state. He previously served the state's growers as MCMC treasurer and vice chairman as well as the Missouri Corn Growers Association vice president, secretary and treasurer. Hurst also works on behalf of corn farmers nationally with his service on the National Corn Growers Association Ethanol and NASCAR committees and is currently a member of the Corn PAC committee.

"It has been a pleasure to serve as the MCMC chairman over the past year," Stuever said. "Many things go on in the world of corn, and this year has been one for the record books. I am confident Kevin will be a valuable asset to the check-off program and corn growers across the state."

The MCMC board of directors is comprised of 14 farmers elected from across the state. This volunteer producer board was formed in 1984 with the passage of a corn checkoff and is dedicated to market development, research and education. The Missouri Corn Growers Association is a grassroots organization of more than 2,500 members committed to increasing the profitability of corn production through sound policies, continued market development and strong involvement in the political process. # Holt County to recognize Fire Prevention Week

The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) announced the 2013 Fire Prevention Week theme: "Prevent Kitchen Fires." NFPA selected this theme to encourage greater care when cooking and to make families more aware of kitchen fire dangers.

As cooking is the number one cause of home fires and home fire injuries, NFPA is using this week of Oct. 6 through 12 to promote safe kitchen habits with stoves, microwaves, and other appliances. Remaining attentive while cooking and managing how close children and pets are to anything hot will help keep families safe.

"On average, firefighters respond to more than 400 kitchen fires every day," Lorraine Carli, Vice President of Communications for NFPA, said. "By making kitchen fire safety the theme for 2013 Fire Prevention Week, we can raise the awareness of the leading cause of fires, unattended cooking, and provide life saving safety tips to improve the safety of everyone in the home."

The 2013 Fire Prevention Week campaign materials prominently feature Sparky the Fire Dog, NFPA's mascot. Sparky's Wish List is an online registry where fire departments request much needed educational materials and individuals or businesses purchase items for them. Nearly 700 fire departments have registered.

Fire Prevention Week also commemorates the Great Chicago Fire of 1871. On the 40th anniversary (1911) of the Great Chicago Fire, the Fire Marshals' Association of North America (FMANA), the oldest membership section of the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA), sponsored the first National Fire Prevention Day, deciding to observe the anniversary as a way to keep the public informed about the importance of fire prevention. In May 1919 when the NFPA held its 23rd annual meeting in Ottawa at the invitation of the Dominion Fire Prevention Association (DFPA), the NFPA and DFPA both passed resolutions urging governments in the United States and Canada to support the campaign for a common Fire Prevention Day. This day was expanded to Fire Prevention Week in 1922. The non-profit NFPA, which has officially sponsored Fire Prevention Week since its inception, selects the annual theme for Fire Prevention Week.

When President Calvin Coolidge proclaimed the first National Fire Prevention Week on Oct. 4 through 10, 1925, he noted that in the previous year some 15,000 lives were lost to fires in the United States. Calling the loss "startling," Coolidge's proclamation stated: "This waste results from the conditions which justify a sense of shame and horror; for the greater part of it could and ought to be prevented... It is highly desirable that every effort be made to reform the conditions which have made possible so vast a destruction of the national wealth."

For Holt County, MO, residents, fire departments in Mound City, Skidmore, Graham, Maitland and Northwest and Southern Holt county are available and have staffs of voluntary firefighters. Residents, however, are encouraged to educate themselves on fire safety and practice safe cooking methods.

Meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary, Paul P. Shutts Unit No. 121, met Tuesday evening, Oct. 1, 2013, at the First Christian Church in Mound City. Members present were Lori Miller, Verna Young, Phyllis Smith and Debbie Loucks.

Miller reported on the district meeting held in St. Joseph, MO, on Sept. 21. She announced that the yearly theme for the 4th district is "Wheels Turning to Serve Veterans." Unit 121 also received two certificates for meeting membership goals.

Upcoming events include Girls' State, which will be held June 22 through 28 in Warrensburg, MO, and a craft/vendor show on Nov. 30 in St. Joseph, MO; all proceeds from the show will benefit Homeless Vets.

Junior members from the district are collecting recipes to put together a cookbook to be sold as a fundraiser for the Cameron Veterans' Home. A donation will also be made to the Cameron Veterans' Home in memory of Karen Barker. Miller will be sending letters to businesses and organizations asking for donations to support the Veterans' Christmas Gift Shops in Cameron, MO, and Leavenworth, KS, as well.

The next district meeting will be Nov. 23 at the Methodist Church in Burlington Junction, MO. The next Unit 121 meeting will be March 4, 2014.

Holt County Historical Society copper still missing

The Holt County Historical Society's (HCHS) copper still went missing sometime before Thursday, Oct. 3, 2013, in Mound City, MO. The building where the still was stored was locked, but it appeared someone entered through an eastern window; authorities have since been notified, but the still hasn't yet turned up.

HCHS members first noted the missing still while preparing for the festivities at Winefest. The organization intended to provide cold drinks, such as bottled root beer, ginger beer and sarsaparilla, and sell "Gone Home" books. The still would have been part of the display.

The copper still was first built in 1995 by Bobby Sipes to use in the HCHS's early-day events. In 2007 it was featured on a Society float with the theme, "150 years and 'still' going strong" during Mound City's sesquicentennial Fourth of July parade. The float won first place.

Any information regarding the missing artifact would be appreciated.

What do you remember?

The Holt County Historical Society is looking for answers to these questions that have been submitted by researchers.

Large crowds attended the daylong annual fun fall event that highlighted many Holt County historical events, a hanging, a horse race, or a shooting, along with old time music and early day crafts. Daniel Sypes, Sr., died in 1859; his son, Daniel "Buck" Sypes, died in 1881. (Gone Home I, Holt County publication, 1891).

REMEMBERING.....

The highlight of the Holt County Historical Society's "Nostalgia Daze", held on society grounds at Fortescue, MO, in 1995, was a copper still built by Bobby Sipes. Along with friends, he reenacted the early days of "moonshiners". The "staged raids" added excitement throughout the day! Gone Home I shares that in the early days of Holt County, Sipes' ancestor, Daniel Sypes, was known for his "Sypes Best" Whiskey. It was thought to provide the necessary power at log-rolls, house raisings, corn huskings, harvesting, hay making, etc. It would also oil the 'fantastic toe' for the dances that occurred throughout the settlements.

GRIFFITH TO BE HONORED

Sometime ago, a researcher called the Genealogy Center wanting to contact the family of the late Elvin Leroy Griffith, a son of Blanche and William Griffith of Mound City. His grandfather and Griffith, along with other soldiers, had died in a plane crash in the Bieber, CA, area in August, 1943, while on a training mission during WWII. The researcher had visited the crash site and had news clippings, photos, and other information he wanted to share with the family. He also wanted to let the family know that a WWII memorial is being erected there by the Bieber, CA, Historical Society to honor Griffith and the other men who died in the crash. His request was given to Denise Griffith Acklin, Mound City, who contacted him. Her father, the late Denzil Griffith, was a younger brother of Leroy.

MYSTERY SOLVED!

A call from Ron Smith identified the unknown street looking south in Mound City!

From the intersection of Gillis and Mill streets looking south, the first house on the east side corner was the home of Orma and Clara Karnes, next was the home of Ron's aunt, Marguerite Smith Griffith, and the top of the old Mound City school that was located on Grand Avenue can be seen in the distance. On the west side of Mill Street, the top of the former home of Edith Shipman can be identified. The photo was in last week's Mound City News.

If anyone has any information about any of these items please call 660-442-5949.

Pipeline repair on schedule, set to finish this week

The TransCanada crew replacing two natural gas pipes running under Highway 59 in Mound City, MO, should complete construction this week, according to TransCanada representative Michael Barnes.

The crew first broke ground in late August. Using a horizontal directional drill, they bore a hole running from just east of Highway 59, or State Street, and under Interstate 29 to the other side. The crew pulled the first pipe through the hole then prepared to repeat the operation for the second pipe. The drilling was completed at the end of September, and the second pipe should be pulled through on Friday, Oct. 4.

After the pipes, which are 24 inches in diameter, are in place, the crew will seal them and commence clean-up work. The ground will be restored where the drill went in, and the area will be resod. All work should be completed by the end of the month.

"By next year, you won't be able to tell [there was construction here]," Barnes said.

TransCanada's ANR Pipeline Company owns and operates the natural gas pipelines being replaced. The maintenance work was mandated by the U.S. Department of Transportation after an increase in development in the area.

ACLU sues MO over execution drug records

The American Civil Liberties Union of Missouri Foundation (ACLU-MO) filed a lawsuit against the Missouri Department of Corrections (DOC) on Friday, Oct. 4, for failing to comply with a Sunshine Law request for records about Missouri's supply of the drug propofol. The state plans to use this drug in executions slated for Oct. 23 and Nov. 20.

"Missouri law requires the government to respond to public-record requests within three business days," Tony Rothert, ACLU-MO's legal director, said. "It has now been more than five weeks without the records, without communication and without responding to phone calls."

Jeffrey A. Mittman, executive director of the ACLU of Missouri agreed that the DOC's lack of a response was troubling.

"There is serious doubt that the Missouri Department of Corrections lawfully or ethically possesses the drug it plans to use to end a life later this month," Mittman said. "The public has a right to know the details of how the state came into possession of this highly controlled drug. Propofol's makers have gone to great lengths to ensure their drug is not used for executions, so the DOC's plan to do so may jeopardize the U.S. supply of the drug, which is widely used as a safe and effective anesthetic."

The petition, which was filed in the Circuit Court of Cole County, can be found on the ACLU-MO website.

The ACLU of Missouri Foundation is a non-partisan, not-for-profit membership organization dedicated to defending and expanding the constitutional rights and civil liberties of all Missourians guaranteed by the U.S. and Missouri Constitutions. The organization is also an affiliate of the national ACLU.

New road open at Highway 59 and Holt County Road 147

Construction is complete in relocating Holt County Road 147 - Though a crew will remain in the area to replace a pipe under the levee and resod. The Missouri Department of Transportation (MoDOT) is encouraging drivers to be cautious when using the road, but representative Marcia Johnson said, "We would never open it if it wasn't safe." The road was moved to the south to allow for better traffic access after a new bridge was built over Little Tarkio Creek.

Holt County Commission meets during September

The Holt County Commission met during consecutive Mondays for the month of September at the courthouse in Oregon, MO. Meetings included discussions of land development, vaccination procedures and maintenance of properties and roads throughout the county.

At the meeting that took place on Sept. 9, the Holt County Commission, with Mark Sitherwood, presiding commissioner, Bill Gordon, first district commissioner, and David Carroll, second district commissioner, in attendance, discussed improvements to Holt County. Assessor Carla Markt reported on recent actions by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to acquire land within the county for the mitigation of the Missouri River. Markt was opposed to the purchase as it would take land from the tax rolls and remove productive farm land from the county's agricultural economy. Brenda Nelson, R.N. and health department administrator, presented a Memorandum of Understanding for the continued process of vital records, such as birth and death records. Collector Donna Cotton also provided two notices from the annual back tax sale, which was held on Aug. 26, 2013. Two properties were sold at surplus, and the funds, in the amounts of $927.23 and $1,081.55, were deposited with the county treasurer. Additional presentations at the Sept. 9 meeting included construction delays, roadway projects, and fall festivities. Randy Mendenhall of Snyder and Associates requested a change order for Levee District No. 15 so crews could have additional time to complete work; the change was approved by the committee, though Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) approval must be given before final work on the project can be finished. Road and Bridge Supervisor Daryl Biermann spoke about several roadway projects, such as the installation of a corrugated metal pipe as a bridge replacement on Candle Road, the purchase of an air compressor, installation of a natural gas utility line in the Maitland, MO, area and a County Aid Road Trust (CART) road rock application. Mike Brooks, the buildings and ground supervisor, and Wayne Flanary, from University of Missouri Extension, reviewed activities from the annual Holt County Autumn Festival. Flanary also reported on the approaching harvest in northwest Missouri.

Finally, the commission discussed adopting a personnel policy handbook prepared by SBG in St. Joseph, MO.

One of the issues discussed during the Sept. 9 meeting was resolved during the Sept. 16 meeting, though a few new issues were brought to the table:

Mendenhall received partial payment for the work on Levee District No. 15; Nelson discussed plans for vaccine storage and presented a renewal contract for sanitarian services for inspections on preschool and child care services; and Beirmann requested new rock trucks be acquired for the coming budget year. Biermann also reported on bridge replacements and the need for completed projects to be given credit before new projects are started. In additional business, County Clerk Kathy J. Kunkel reviewed the county's compliance with the Affordable Care Act and discussed upcoming group health insurance renewals.

Few new issues were presented at the Sept. 23 Holt County Commission meeting. Nelson presented a $1,500 child-care contract for renewal and asked for a replacement fax machine, and Biermann spoke about tires for country road graders, the rental of a brush cutter for right-of-way maintenance, CART road rock application and safety training for road and bridge staff. In new business, Sheriff Scott Wedlock talked about the removal of a walnut tree on the west side of the jail, issues with sewer gas smells in the jail and radio equipment upgrades.

Brock, Nelson and Biermann wrapped up remaining issues at the Sept. 30 commission meet-

USDA to plow ahead with youth safety

Agricultural work is tough, and as farm families know, dangerous. Last year, agriculture recorded the highest fatal injury rate of any industry, with the rate of on-the-job fatality nearly seven times the rate for all U.S. workers.

Complicating the issue is the unique role that youth play on the farm and ranch. Many farms and ranches are family businesses and part of a tradition that strengthens American agriculture and instills important life skills in adolescents. Unfortunately, young people also share in the hazards of farm work. On average, more than 100 youth die each year in farm-related accidents, while thousands more are injured on the farm or ranch.

Every injury or death on a farm is tragic, and a young person's death can make such accidents more difficult to bear.

To curb more fatal accidents, the Federal government is helping families, farm groups and businesses ensure youth safety on the farm, while still allowing young people to work in agriculture. Last year, the USDA promised to address youth farm safety in innovative, comprehensive ways, working together with folks from around the country.

On Sept. 25, the USDA announced new plans to strengthen that commitment by developing a national training curriculum to reduce agricultural hazards to young workers.

USDA's National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) awarded $600,000 over two years to Pennsylvania State University, which will work with partner universities and a broad range of agricultural and educational organizations to develop a training curriculum. The result will provide a unified approach to national youth farm safety education, as well as a formalized effort to educate rural youth who are working on farms or ranches. Overall, NIFA has provided nearly $2 million in funding under the Obama Administration to complement the good efforts of America's farmer, rancher and producer organizations to improve youth farm safety.

In addition to benefitting working adolescents, NIFA's awards are a reminder of the work the organization carries out in partnership with Land Grant Universities. People across the country are counting on Congress to pass a comprehensive new Food, Farm and Jobs Bill that gives USDA and university partners continued tools to strengthen American agriculture.

The USDA is committed to a common-sense approach to youth safety on the farm. The Departments of Agriculture and Labor will continue to coordinate closely with America's producers and agriculture organizations on this issue and other farm safety concerns.

The USDA's efforts will further expand its broad partnerships to improve farm safety. It will also ensure that young people can get the experience they need to keep American agriculture strong and abundant in the years to come, while staying safe and sound in the process.

If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen

Emphasis of Oct. 6-12 awareness week is due to more fires occurring in the kitchen than any other room of the house

With Fire Prevention Week 2013 underway, State Fire Marshal Randy Cole is urging Missourians to learn about and take simple steps to prevent kitchen fires. More fires occur in the kitchen than in any other room of the house. Cooking is the leading cause of home fires and of home fire-related injuries.

"Kitchen fires, especially those involving grease, can spread quickly and be very difficult to put out," State Fire Marshal Cole said. "There are other fire risks in the kitchen, too, including toasters, toaster ovens and overloaded outlets and extension cords. That is why it is essential to know how fires can start in the kitchen, understand the ways they can be prevented and have an action plan for what to do if a fire starts."

Among the safety tips that firefighters and safety advocates will be emphasizing are:

- Stay in the kitchen when frying, grilling, broiling or boiling food.
- When leaving the room, even if it's for a short time, turn off the stove.
- When simmering, baking, or roasting food, check it regularly, stay in the home, and use a timer as a reminder.
- Use the stove's back burners whenever possible, especially if there are small children in the home, and keep children and pets at least three feet away from the stove.
- When cooking, wear clothing with tight-fitting sleeves.
- Keep potholders, oven mitts, wooden utensils, paper and plastic bags, towels and anything else that can burn away from the stovetop.
- Clean food and grease from burners and stovetops.
- Keep a fire extinguisher near the kitchen exit and learn how to use it. Fire extinguishers are never a substitute for calling the fire department, however, even if the fire is small.

Fire Marshal Cole suggests creating a family fire safety plan that includes learning about kitchen fire hazards and how to avoid them, as well as developing a home fire escape plan. Families should regularly practice these plans and explain them to children, revising the plan as the children grow up.

Cole adds that having a working smoke detector is essential to ensuring a family is alerted to a fire, and he suggests replacing smoke detector batteries at least once a year to ensure they will work when needed. The end of daylight saving time, 2 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 3, 2013, when clocks are adjusted to "fall back" an hour, can serve as an easy reminder.

Fire Prevention Week is recognized annually by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) and fire departments and safety agencies across the country. According to NFPA, cooking is the leading cause of home fires and related injuries. In 2011 there were 370,000 home structure fires resulting in 2,520 civilian deaths across the nation.

For more than 85 years, fire departments have observed Fire Prevention Week, making it the longest running public health and safety observance on record. For more information on how to prevent kitchen fires, visit www.firepreventionweek.org.

The Mound City Panthers extended their winning record to 6-0 overall and in the 275 Conference with a victory over Craig/Fairfax (CFX), MO, on Friday, October 4. The game was played in Craig, MO, with the Panthers scoring 54 points, while the CFX Hornets put 12 points on the board.

Mound City will travel to Hopkins, MO, on Friday, October 11, to meet the North Nodaway Mustangs. The CFX squad will be on the road at Stanberry, MO, to face the Bulldogs, who are also undefeated in the 275 Conference. Both games begin at 7 p.m.

Former Mound City student visits Washington, D.C.

Merkin Karr, former student at Mound City High School, was one of two girls selected to represent Colorado at the 65th American Legion Auxiliary Girls' Nation in Washington, D.C., from July 22 through July 30, 2013. Two outstanding citizens, known as "senators," are selected at the 49 Girls' State sessions held across the country to represent their state at the national conference. DarylAnn Aragon of Pueblo was the other senator chosen from Colorado.

While attending Colorado Columbine Girls' State in Gunnison, CO, Karr was elected president pro tem of the senate, county commissioner and city attorney. It was during this conference that Karr was also selected to go to Girls' Nation.

While attending Girls' Nation, Karr said the highlight was meeting President Obama and singing happy birthday to him.

Karr and Aragon made good use of their time at Girls' Nation by participating in mock legislature sessions and working with two other senators to present a bill on fracking, which passed.

Senator Mark Udall of Colorado spoke with Karr and Aragon and was impressed with similarity of the bill they passed in their mock legislation to the real bills that are passed through Congress.

Aside from tapping in on relevant political issues, Karr and her fellow conference attendees toured Washington, D.C. They visited the White House and Arlington Cemetery and spent an afternoon visiting recuperating servicemen at the Washington, D.C., VA Hospital.

Merkin stated of her time in Washington that superficial qualities between girls are irrelevant. "We go through issues together," she said. "The little things don't matter; if you say pop or soda, that's not important. It's important for young women to empower each other."

Girls' State and Girls' Nation are non-partisan programs that are designed to provide practical insight into how the government works. The programs also strive to instill a sense of patriotism and allow female students to form friendships and long-lasting bonds.

Couple donates $1 million to MO public education

Larry and Brenda Potterfield of Columbia, MO, are issuing a challenge to Missouri public schools: be the first to win a Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award, receive $1 million.

The Baldrige Award recognizes performance excellence, and the Potterfields believe that it, along with the monetary gift, will make for an effective incentive to help Missouri public education improve.

"This is for the children," Larry Potterfield said. "We want to impact the educational system, to make the school districts more accountable, to better prepare and educate the next generation so that our nation can continue to compete in the global marketplace."

The gift challenge will reinforce current efforts for measurable educational improvements among Missouri's 520 school districts as they strive to achieve "role model status," as defined by the Baldrige Education Criteria for Performance Excellence. Each year, the president of the United States honors American organizations in business, health care, education, non-profit, and government that win a Baldrige Award.

"The million dollar unrestricted gift will be an obvious benefit to the school district that demonstrates outstanding performance," said Potterfield, who is CEO of Midway USA. "The school district will receive tremendous recognition for winning the Baldrige Award. Most importantly, the winner will have to demonstrate an improvement in educational outcomes because the Baldrige Criteria for Performance Excellence are results-driven."

Missouri Gov. Jay Nixon, as well as school administrators and Missouri School Boards' Association (MSBA) members, are grateful for the Potterfields' generous gift.

"Outstanding public schools require strong support at every level: hard work by students, engagement by parents, dedication by teachers and support from community and business leaders," Gov. Jay Nixon said. "This challenge is a great testament to the Potterfields' longtime commitment to supporting and improving public education in Missouri, which is more important than ever to growing our economy and creating jobs."

School districts must reach the highest level in the Missouri Quality Award, the state Baldrige-based program, to apply to the National Baldrige Performance Excellence Award Program. School districts will need to demonstrate performance results that are national benchmarks and better than their peer groups at comparably-sized districts across the country. In doing so, the districts will be improving their budget and operations, as well as the education they provide in the classrooms.

"Schools and districts interested in pursuing a Baldrige award can access resources through the recently launched Missouri Network for Educational Improvement (MNEI)," said Daniel L. Clay, dean of the University of the Missouri College of Education. "The network will help schools and districts strategically coordinate continuous improvement efforts." The MNEI is led by the Hook Center at the University of Missouri College of Education, in partnership with the Missouri Association of School Administrators (MASA), MSBA and districts around the state.

Anne L. Bryant, who sits on the board of the Baldrige Foundation and is a former executive director of the National School Boards' Association, said that the million dollar challenge has called upon the entire state of Missouri to "show the way" by encouraging every school district across the state to consider taking up the Baldrige quality and excellence program.

"Like all Baldrige Award winners, a school district that goes through the process is demonstrating to its students, faculty, staff, parents and entire community that it wants to be the best," Bryant said. "I watched my neighboring district, the Montgomery County Public Schools (MD) go through the process and reach the national award with such pride and excitement. It reinforced to the community and the entire state that this public school district could be an example for all."

The $1 million gift will be stewarded by the Foundation for the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award until it is awarded.

Nodaway-Holt plays four quarters with Worth County

The Nodaway-Holt Trojans of Graham, MO, traveled to Grant City, MO, on Friday, October 4, to face the Worth County Tigers in varsity football action. The game went four quarters with the Trojans putting points on the board in every period. In the end, however, Worth County won out by a score of 64-36.

"Offensively, we were able to put up points. A lack of defense was the difference in the game," said Nodaway-Holt Coach Josh Petersen. "We couldn't get stops when we needed them and they scored. Momentum was never really in our favor. Now we have to figure out how to stop Rock Port."

Mound City goes to the transportation fair

By Jennifer Thomas

On Friday, September 20, the Mound City sophomores, juniors, and seniors attended the "Transportation Fair" on the Northwest Missouri State University campus in Maryville, MO. The purpose of the fair was to inform the students about the importance of safe driving. The students were numbered, separated into seven groups, and sent to a station.

There were seven stations. In station one, the students watched a video that included interviews of young people, just like them, that had been in wrecks. Station two was information on what things you need to check "under the hood" before you start driving. The third station included the students driving a golf cart around a parking lot wearing goggles that represented how you would see if intoxicated. Station four was about decisions where the students were asked to pick an item of clothing and to put it on. They were then asked why they chose that specific item. After the students each answered, the sponsor told the students that they would have to wear it for the rest of the day. It may sound silly, but the activity had a very good purpose. It was meant to show that one little decision can alter things in your life, and not just your outfit. For example, choosing to send or reply to a text while driving could be a decision that you will forever regret.

In station five, the students sat down at a table across from another student. In between them was a deck of cards and a sheet of paper full of questions. One student was to shuffle and sort the cards into their suits, while their partner asked them the questions on the sheet. The goal was for the students to answer every question while they sort the cards in the given time. They wanted to show that it is almost impossible to multitask. Station six involved the students putting on a pair of impairment goggles and trying to pick up small items on the ground. In station seven the students had to try to text and drive a golf cart.

Sophomore Cooper Hollis said, "It was quite the experience." When asked what he enjoyed most he said he really enjoyed "station three". Junior Lily Forehand said "It was very informative, but I had a ton of fun." Lily enjoyed participating in station four. Senior Sara Murphy said that she liked station seven the most because she was "really good at it".

All in all, the "Transportation Fair" was a success; a lot of people really enjoyed it. It really opened people's eyes to the importance of safe and responsible driving.

She is going to major in Career and Technical Education: Family and Consumer Sciences/Political Sciences. Jorden's dream career is to become a U.S. Senator. ## When Breast Cancer Is The Question, Timing Is Everything

Evening Mammogram

In honor of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, CH-F Radiology is offering evening mammograms for your convenience on October 17. Call 660-686-2360 for appointment. Must have a doctor's referral.

That's why Community Hospital-Fairfax prides itself on being close to home, right where you need us. In 2011, we brought digital mammogram technology to our patients, making the procedure more convenient and enabling doctors to see test results quickly. We are also introducing a PET/CT scan; equipment with the power of two imaging machines in one procedure that not only pinpoints abnormalities but can also determine benign tumors from cancerous tumors. These tools and more make Community Hospital-Fairfax the answer when your health is in question. And as we celebrate October as Breast Cancer Awareness, we also celebrate the health of our community every month and every minute of the year.
