Mound City License Office to close

The Mound City License Office is set to close Thursday, June 5, according to Michelle Gleba, director of communications for the Missouri Department of Revenue. The current office manager, Connie Gordon, will be moving on to manage the Savannah, MO, License Bureau.

"The contract for the Mound City License Office was put up for bid Dec. 6, 2013, with a Jan.

3, 2014, deadline. No bids were received," Gleba wrote to the Mound City News. "The contract was put up for bid a second time on Jan. 17, 2014, with a Feb. 14, 2014, deadline. No bids were received... There are currently no plans to re-bid that office."

Joe Laukemper, who previously ran the Mound City License Office, released the following statement: "After a couple of months without an office in 2005, it was apparent to me and Laukemper Motors that this service was extremely important to the automobile business in Mound City, as well as for the residents of Holt County. With Connie Gordon's help and knowledge of titles, I bid the contract and was awarded it.

Mound City R-2 student Colton Flint - Carefully drives away from school. "Although comprising only 10 percent of Missouri's drivers, [teens] are involved in more than 24 percent of fatal and disabling injury crashes," the Missouri Department of Transportation reported.

Teen driving: Be on the safe side

The numbers can be staggering: only 58.7 percent of teen drivers from the northwest Missouri area wear seat belts; 50 percent of teens admit to texting while driving; 10 percent of alcohol-impaired driving fatalities occur with those under the age of 21; and traffic crashes are the leading cause of death for those between the ages of 15 and 20. Based on the number crunching by various organizations, including the Missouri Coalition of Roadway Safety, the U.S. Department of Transportation, Consumer Reports and the Missouri Department of Transportation (MoDOT), teen drivers need to heed the statistics.

"Mile for mile, [teens] are involved in three times as many fatal crashes as all other drivers," Consumer Reports and the U.S. Department of Transportation noted.

Mound City R-2 elementary students - Jump rope during recess on a warm spring day on Friday, April 25.

A breath of fresh air

Amid the shouts and laughter of Mound City R-2 elementary students on the playground Friday afternoon, April 25, a group of girls stood off to the side, beaded jump ropes at the ready.

"Cinderella, dressed in yellow, went upstairs to kiss her fel—" came the chant, until the jumper caught her tennis shoe on the swinging rope.

The students, who get 25 minutes of recess time every day and 1.5 hours of physical education each week, are examples of how outdoor time contributes to a well-rounded, healthy child.

"There are a lot of benefits," Jan Seitz, principal of the elementary school at Mound City R-2, said. "It's good for exercise, physical development, active movement. It helps the brain develop...It's a way for kids to relieve stress, [and] it improves their ability to concentrate."

In short, unstructured playtime outside is essential.

"Children can skip, jump, climb, roll, hide — it's all good for kids," Seitz said.

The Chicago Tribune, The New York Times, Earlychildhood NEWS and Mommies Magazine also cited that free play outside is crucial to children's cognitive and physical development; it sparks the imagination and problem solving and helps combat childhood obesity.

While the students at Mound City R-2 have recess time ("You can't beat the hands-on, sensory experiences outside," Seitz said), a recent Earth Day-related study by Disney and The Nature Conservancy, based out of St. Louis, MO, shows that children need as much time outside as possible.

"It supports healthy habits and fosters a concern for nature," Todd Sampsell, director of The Nature Conservancy said. "More time outside...leads to better learning in school."

According to Sampsell, preschool-age children spend the most time outside, but older children prefer to spend their leisure time indoors. Additionally, American parents in the study cited the discomfort of being outside a home as a major obstacle; air conditioning, central heat, video games and television seem to take precedence.

"We tend towards comfort in our society," Sampsell explained. "We tend to try to shelter our kids from what's uncomfortable."

Bugs and unpleasant temperatures aside, nature offers children the opportunity to not only push outside of their comfort zone but also to learn to appreciate the beauty of the outdoors.

"Kids who love nature grow up to protect it," Dr. Beth Stevens, senior vice president, Disney Citizenship, Environment & Conservation, said in an article on the study.

Although schools may offer ample time outside, parents play a critical role in prioritizing more outdoor time for their children.

"Parents are the gatekeepers," Sampsell said.

So, what can parents do? According to Sampsell, it's as easy as getting outside to play catch or encouraging play with other neighborhood kids.

"Here in Missouri," he added, "there are a variety of rivers to enjoy, hiking trails, parks, camping, fishing, hunting and farms."

Dustin Carpenter, M.D., to join CH-F Care Clinic in Mound City

Dustin Carpenter, M.D., will be making a lifelong dream come true this August when he joins the Community Hospital-Fairfax (CH-F) medical staff and begins seeing patients in the CH-F Primary Care Clinic in Mound City.

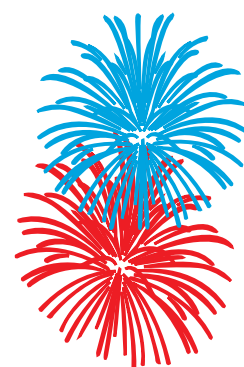

"I have lived in many places across the U.S. and even abroad, but northwest Missouri has always been my home," Carpenter said. "It was my dream to come back here."

Carpenter, the son of Chuck and Jan Carpenter, was born and raised in Rock Port, MO. He graduated from Rock Port High School in 1999 and will complete his family medicine residency at the University of Nebraska in June 2014. He married his wife, Annie, a registered nurse, in 2012. As the grandson of longtime northwest Missouri physician Wallace Carpenter, he also has a unique perspective on family medicine.

Mound City License Office to close

From the front

The revenues from the office never covered the expenses, but came close to breaking even in the early years. Revenue increased under Connie's guidance from $26,000 per year to about $35,500 today. Since 2005 when we took office, the costs of security systems has increased, utility costs have risen, copier machine service and drums have gone up, postage has gone up, and about everything you deal with has increased. Couple that with changing rules and regulations, and it is more difficult to complete each transaction. If we cannot give a satisfactory level of service, with an adequate fee, we feel we cannot continue to give that service. Connie Gordon and Carol Brandon are two of the best in the state for operating this service, and Laukemper Motors is proud of the efficiency and accuracy of their service. Connie, Carol and I would be glad to help anyone bid the local office and help find a location to put it."

Nearby license offices in Missouri can be found in Savannah, Rock Port and Maryville. Laukemper also added that "some small counties offer the service for three days per week as an economy measure. It could be added to an existing business, if it meets the criteria. Perhaps there is a person out there who would be willing to offer the service on a part-time basis."

Residents may renew their plates online at <http://plates.mo.gov>, as well.

Remembering

By Eugene Poynter

"Coming Home"

Listening and receiving so much mail wanting money for various veterans and present military organizations that need help reminds me of how it was after World War II. I know it is all justified, some soldiers need and deserve the most. We can go back to George Washington's army and up to the present, and it's the same thing. Most things that were supposed to help and were promised either were forgotten, covered up or not adequate to do much good and in time were dropped. After World War II, it was just as bad as things seem to be today, only on a much larger scale. The problems we had were not known to all, and maybe a good many veterans also, due to a lot of different reasons. Some wouldn't accept help anyway. I've heard of late comments like, "You so-called 'The Greatest Generation' were treated much better." This from ones who still don't know that we weren't.

Everyone was tired of the war: the public, the military, mom and dad, tired of losing sons and afraid of more being killed or missing in action, tired of the shortage of most everything, tired of the rationing, using ration stamps for gas, tires, cigarettes, sugar, coffee, etc. Making things do for one World War II motto fit almost everyone: "Eat it up and wear it out, make it do or go without." Even the defense workers in the factories may have had money but were unable to buy like normal, unless they went to the black markets, for scarce items could be bought for a good many times their worth. When the war was over, shortages were still around, price controls, factories already closing, dropping thousands off looking for jobs, the country trying to get back like it was before the war, it never did. The over 16 million military personnel came back. Remember our dreams? To survive, come back home, buy a little farm or start our own business, raise a family and enjoy it all again? Some were lucky, but most weren't. I was one of the lucky ones, thanks to my folks.

Remember how hard it was, coming home; the closer you got, I think most all dragged their feet a little, being gone for at least two to four years, no furloughs, no phone calls and very little mail, depending on where you were, so most were out of touch with family and friends. Who all will be here to meet me, or shall I just show up? What will I do to make a living, and if the injuries and sickness I've brought back will get better? It was really hard to just pick up where you left off. I came back from the Pacific by boat and came into Seattle with flags waving, bands playing, and stood there with a large group listening to speeches of how much they thought of us and what all things good were waiting for us. That was my first introduction to politicians. Going through the discharge procedure like it was made me wonder what they all seemed mad about, sign this and that and move on. Later I found out my records were incomplete, not having any hospital or convalescent camp or treatments listed, and I found out later some had all their time listed as stateside, and they'd been overseas for several years. Most just let it go, just were happy to be home.

The GI Bill that was passed by Congress was a blessing, if you were able to qualify and could afford to take advantage of part of it. This let vets go to college, take on-the-job training, establish a GI loan to purchase a farm, home or business. The bad thing, not all banks wanted involvement with the government-backed loans, and the benefits ran out of monies too quick. To help vets through the time of trying to re-establish themselves, there was an unemployment system referred to as the "52-20 Club." You could draw up to $20 per week for 52 weeks. That became so popular that some began accusing the government of "making lazy bums out of them." Getting medical help through the VA was hard to get due to the vast number that needed it, for so many came back either wounded or sick with malaria. In time, so many that were subjected to or were part of some conflict ended up with what at the time was referred to as "psychoneurotic" cases. Two years after the war's end, half of the patients in VA medical facilities were men suffering from it, which in 1980 was named like it is today, PTSD, post-traumatic stress disorder. Broken homes, lost jobs, vets being unable to obtain jobs were all part of the stress. People were advised to stay away from vets that had been trained in killing and assault who were a potential menace to society. Ones like me who ended up with PTSD that had help like Betty and Dr. Hogan were lucky, and also having a vocation to keep busy at, ones that I know had it, have been gone a long time ago.

It seems like almost everyone has this stress and depression now; they will need a lot of help from home and church, for the pills alone will not do it. If you know of someone that has it, try and be patient. I still get a spell sometimes, but I'm making it so far.

Alfalfa weevil in area fields

Growers should be scouting alfalfa fields for alfalfa weevil. South Missouri has had infestations, and there have been numerous insecticide failures due to the cold weather and resistance to insecticides.

The economic threshold is one or more larvae per stem and 30 percent or more of the plant terminal ends showing damage. If the field's infestation is greater than this standard, be sure to spray. In cool, wet springs, a fungal pathogen called Zoophthora phytonomi can infect and kill weevils. Should this effect occur, the infected larvae turn from their normal green color to a yellow color and may die off two to three days after infection occurs.

Early harvest is also an option, if alfalfa is seven to ten days from bud and early bloom stage. Missouri research has shown that 98 percent of the weevils can be reduced with mechanical harvest. Be sure to scout stubble if harvested as University of Missouri (MU) Extension regional agronomists have occasionally found adults feeding on alfalfa in numbers great enough to prevent regrowth.

For more information, contact MU Extension Regional Agronomists Wayne Flanary, (660) 446-3724, Heather Benedict, (660) 425-6434, or Wyatt Miller, (816) 776-6961.

Benefit for Mike Long to be held at the White Rose

From the front

"Growing up, I was exposed at a very young age to family medicine in a rural area," Carpenter explained. "I was able to observe the impact my grandfather had on my community both as a physician and a person. I can't think of a better person to emulate. Grandpa assures me that I don't have to fill his shoes, but he can't stop me from trying."

Carpenter will see patients at the Mound City Primary Care Clinic, located at 514 State St., starting Monday, Aug. 4, 2014. Carpenter is passionate about family medicine and has plans to provide the full scope of primary care, including obstetrics. As being available to patients is one of his priorities, Carpenter plans to dedicate several appointment times each day for acute illnesses so his patients can be seen in the timeliest manner possible.

Carpenter is also looking forward to becoming a part of the community. He is anxious to attend sporting events and be a sideline presence for young athletes. He plans to take in a few Royals games and cheer on the Missouri Tigers and Kansas City Chiefs as soon as he returns to Missouri, as well.

The community will have an opportunity to welcome Carpenter at receptions held at the hospital in Fairfax, MO, and at his new clinic in Mound City in July. In the meantime, Carl Luem, M.D., is continuing to see patients in both Fairfax and Mound City. Walk-ins are welcome and appointments may be made by calling (660) 686-2276.

One-car accident injures driver, passenger

A 2007 Jeep Liberty driven by Jeffry L. Behrens, 56, of Council Bluffs, IA, was involved in a one-car accident at 4 p.m. Thursday, April 24, two miles north of Mound City at the 86.6 mile marker of Interstate 29.

Behrens was headed south when he ran off the west side of the roadway and struck the end of a guardrail. The car then returned to the road and turned over once before skidding off the right side of the road and striking the guardrail again before sliding down an embankment and landing upright in a ravine. Missouri State High Patrol Trooper N.J. Griener and Corporal R.J. Helfers, as well as the Holt County Sheriff's Department and the Atchison-Holt Ambulance District, responded to the scene.

Behrens had moderate injuries and was treated at the scene by the Atchison-Holt Ambulance. Both he and another passenger, Rhema N. Anaya, 12, of Omaha, NE, decided to seek further medical treatment on their own; Anaya suffered minor injuries. Behrens' son, Brennen R. Behrens, 16, of Council Bluffs, was not injured in the accident. All were wearing seat belts.

The Jeep Liberty was totaled and towed by Double D Towing of Mound City, MO.

Burn ban lifted

The Holt County Commission, which issued a burn ban effective Monday, March 24, to curb several fires flaring up in the area, opted to lift the ban Monday April 28.

Locally, Mound City had, at last count, 43 fires since the beginning of the year, whereas the number of fires occurring throughout 2013 numbered 42. Those planning to start a controlled burn are still encouraged to inform the fire departments.

Missouri State Highway Patrol makes drug trafficking arrest

On Monday, April 7, 2014, at approximately 10:39 a.m., a member of the Missouri State Highway Patrol stopped a 2013 Nissan Frontier on Interstate 29 at the 69-mile marker north of St. Joseph, MO. The driver was identified as Ramon Arrendondo, 22, of San Jose, CA, and the passenger was identified as Eleuterio Murillo-Salgado, 34, also of San Jose, CA.

During the course of the traffic stop, several indicators of criminal activity were observed, which caused the trooper to become suspicious. Consent to search the vehicle was requested and granted, and a search revealed four packages believed to contain cocaine. The combined weight of the packages is approximately 10 pounds.

Murillo-Salgado was arrested for felony trafficking of a controlled substance-cocaine. He was transported to the Holt County Jail in Oregon, MO, where he is being held pending a formal charge. Arrendondo, the driver, was not charged and was released.

Hazelwood woman arrested in Holt County

Pettijohn & Crawford Family Funeral Service

For me this is more than a business, it's a tradition of family service. For three generations members of the Crawford Family have served Holt County with compassion and dignity. "I am honored as the third generation of my family to serve Mound City and Holt County, following in the footsteps of my grandfather, William Crawford, and my parents Jim and Iris Crawford. Our promise to you is - we will do whatever it takes to serve your family in a personal way."

Missionary to speak at New Life Apostolic Church

The New Life Apostolic Church, located at 307 E. 6th St. in Mound City, MO, will host missionary Dr. Jack Coolbaugh, Ph.D. at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 1.

Coolbaugh was a nuclear engineer until he decided to quit his secular job and go to Thailand as a self-supported associate in missions in 1994. With the exception of one eight-month period, he and his wife have been in full-time ministry in Thailand. They opened a Bible school in 1999 in northern Thailand using rented facilities for the first three years, doing, as he said

“all the planning, administration, funding, record-keeping, teaching, translation, organizing, controlling and scheduling.” In February 2001 they began construction on the new Isaac Keyes Memorial Bible School located on four acres, and they also received their appointment as UPCI missionaries to Thailand in May of that year. The school, with housing capacity for 32 students plus staff, was completed in September 2002, and a portion of the administration and teaching functions are now carried out by Thai staff.

Guess who's 80?

She's a special lady. Always helpful and quick of wit.

She was the only girl in her class until spring when another girl came to her school at Bellevue.

She married her sweetheart, Jackie, 61 years ago.

A son, Kenny, was born.

Life kept her very busy — upstairs, downstairs, in the kitchen cooking, out in the garden, with plenty of produce to process and can. Busy with an old wringer washer, and then out to the clothesline.

She's perfected many things, from recipes for food to wisdom for life. Her family loves her special dishes: potato salad, peach pie and orange salad, to name a few.

It's an interesting tale of a lady who has seen quite a bit. She is greatly loved and appreciated by all of her family. She's the best mother-in-law you could ask for. Please help Eva Mae Miller celebrate her 80th birthday. Cards may be sent to 12903 Graystone Rd., Craig, MO, 64437.

MSHP DWI checkpoint planned for Atchison County

Captain James E. McDonald, commanding officer of Troop H in St. Joseph, MO, announced that sometime during the month of May 2014, Troop H will conduct a Driving While Intoxicated (DWI) checkpoint in Atchison County. The areas selected for enforcement are based on a high number of drinking-related crashes, a high number of contacts with drivers who have been drinking, and officers' input as to probable contact with DWI violators.

"Intoxicated drivers pose a real danger on Missouri roadways; if you drink and drive, you lose," Captain McDonald said. "Please assist the Missouri State Highway Patrol in removing impaired drivers from our roadways by contacting us toll-free at 1-800-525-5555 or cellular *55."

In support of "The Drive To ZERO Highway Deaths," the Patrol encourages motorists to protect themselves and their passengers by making sure everyone in the vehicle is properly restrained in a seat belt or child restraint. Watercraft operators should ensure that everyone in the vessel is wearing an approved life jacket.

This Week's History

From the Mound City News archives

50 Years Ago - 1964

• Maitland residents were extremely proud of their school's music students, and the feeling was certainly justified. In state competition at Columbia six of their eight entries earned No. 1 ratings and the remaining two groups were placed in the No. 2 category. Those who won No. 1 ratings were: Irvin Meadows, Jack Estes, Eric Riley, Ralph Taylor, Greg Derr, and Charles Shields.

• Donald Myrl Ashford, Mound City, earned a No. 1 rating at the state music competition.

• Bellevue students earning a No. 1 rating at the state music competition included: Connie Rosier, Mary Freed, Linda Andes, Ruth Hester, Barbara Stone, and Carol Ann Devlin.

• Craig R-III music students earning a No. 1 rating at state music contests included: Trula Heits, Lynda Neely, and Janice Randall.

• The latest Red Rock Report indicated that requests for a decorative rock were exceeding the ability to deliver - but to be patient - it would get done. The Red Rock committee was urging more people to design innovative rock displays. Certificates of adoption were given to all with a display.

• The Mound City FFA Chapter received its first state level BOAC award, a bronze rating for its help in the restoration of the State Theater. Kevin Blair was the advisor.

"Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Kuhn canning factory last Thursday night in Forest City with a total loss to building, equipment, and some 24,000 cases of canned vegetables. A large quantity of canned goods in a nearby building was not damaged. The building, located west of the Burlington tracks, was owned by the Farmers Elevator Company." (Holt County Sentinel clipping, January, 1941)

Gene Hendrix, Littleton, CO, had inquired in 2004 about the date the Forest City Cannery burned down. Living in Forest City, he remembered well the night that it happened, but not the exact date.

Co-Owners, Joey Livengood and Samantha Miles

Sisters happy to call Northwest Graphix home

For two sisters, the timing was perfect to start a new business. Samantha Miles had planned to return to work as soon as her children were old enough to start school, and her sister, Joey Livengood, needed to find a new vocation due to health reasons. So in 2011, instead of finding jobs and going to work for someone else, the pair went into business for themselves by opening Northwest Graphix, an embroidery and graphic design shop in Mound City.

"Our business includes embroidery, sublimation and heat transfers," said co-owner Joey Livengood. "We can do anything from shirts, hats, coozies, key chains, mugs [and] mouse pads. We also offer rhinestone transfers."

For the last three years Northwest Graphix has strived to meet the community's needs. The business has expanded to now include vinyl lettering for trucks, windows, signs, walls, picture frames and memorial keepsakes.

Northwest Graphix, located at 502 State St., may be contacted at (660) 442-3804 or nwgraphix@centurylink.net.

Teen driving: Be on the safe side

From the front

on smart phones — as well as prom and graduation-related parties where alcohol may be present — teenagers are vulnerable to accidents.

Brandon Newton, for example, a sophomore at Nodaway-Holt R-7, took his own crash experience to heart.

"I had a wreck," he said. It wasn't serious, but it spurred the Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) member to focus on teen driving as part of Families Acting for Community Traffic Safety (FACTS).

"I know a lot of kids who text and drive," Newton said. "I know a lot of kids who don't wear their seat belts. I thought I could help them."

Among his efforts, Newton recorded informational messages about teen driving statistics for a local radio station, passed out thumb bands to remind students not to text and drive and had members of the student body dress up in black and paint their faces to symbolize the 10 teenagers killed in traffic accidents every year in Missouri.

Newton's work is reflective of a greater campaign by authorities to educate and inform teen drivers on the necessary precautions they must take when behind the wheel.

"Always wear your seat belt," Sergeant Jacob Angle, public information and education officer with the Missouri State Highway Patrol said. "Don't ever entertain distracted driving, like texting and driving; that's the big thing with teens. There is no text worth sending that will cost you your life."

Angle added that all teen drivers should obey the laws of the road, and they should be particularly careful when tempted to drink and drive.

"Never operate a vehicle under the influence of drugs or alcohol," he said.

To combat the trend of "buzzed driving" — in the last three years, there were 69 fatal crashes and 208 crashes resulting in serious injury that involved impaired drivers under the age of 21 — law enforcement will be monitoring young drivers from Thursday, May 1, through Monday, May 12, as part of National Teen Safe Driving Month. Missouri has a zero tolerance policy for underage imbibers choosing to drive.

Parents can also play a role in ensuring teens stay safe on the road. Consumer Reports and the Missouri Coalition of Roadway Safety encourage mom and dad to talk to their children and set a good example. Parents should also establish ground rules and have new drivers sign a safety pledge.

When it comes to roadway and personal safety, information is key, and teens need only rely on the messages coming from their parents and permeating the media and their schools: buckle up; keep eyes on the road, not on a phone; and don't drink and drive.

Montana Kunkel catapults to FCCLA leadership role

"I've never been shy by any means," Mound City R-2 sophomore Montana Kunkel said as she worked on a black hi-lo skirt in Family and Consumer Sciences (FACS) teacher Karlene Harrison's classroom Wednesday afternoon, April 23. "I made plans for myself, and I always stuck to that."

The plans, for the Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) member, started in seventh grade, when she joined the organization. By eighth grade, she became "more involved," she said, and was elected to a regional office: first vice-president of community service. By ninth grade, Kunkel was chapter treasurer and eventually first vice president of the region.

"I [also] attended the Fall Leadership Conference in Tan-Tar-A," Kunkel said of the two-day, state-level event where she honed her skills as an emerging FCCLA leader. "There were smaller scale workshops... There was a lot of good learning."

Now, in her sophomore year, Kunkel's FCCLA trajectory is high.

"I started low, but I had a plan," she said.

Kunkel attended the National Conference in Nashville, TN, over the summer and had her first taste of acting as a voter rather than a candidate, a position with which she was already familiar.

"I'd never been on that side before," Kunkel said. "It was a really good learning experience. I'm really glad I did that."

Her knowledge of the behind-the-scenes action, from both her roles as the first vice president of the region, which charged her with leading the regional Students Taking Action with Recognition (STAR) events, and as a voting delegate, gave her the platform she needed to tighten her aim in the organization.

This past semester Kunkel ran for state president at the State Leadership Conference. Like any position, it was one that had to be earned. Kunkel, along with four other candidates, took an FCCLA knowledge test, which only three of the five candidates passed. Those three — including Kunkel — then gave a 30-second speech in the opening general session to a crowd of 2,500.

"I never get nervous," Kunkel said when asked about any nerves leading up to her addressing such a large group. "[I figured] I can't mess up in 30 seconds."

Kunkel and the other two candidates also gave a two-minute speech to the voting delegates before being shuffled into a holding room. The three girls, it happened, were also roommates at the conference. Together, the trio decided that when they heard the results, they would open their letters together.

"We gathered and told each other," Kunkel said. "It was a bonding experience. We didn't want any harsh feelings; everyone was deserving of [the position]."

Kunkel received the second most votes and assumed the role of first vice president of state.

"[The installation] went pretty smoothly, actually," she said.

Now, Kunkel and Mound City R-2 senior Jordan Miller are the first FCCLA members from Mound City in the last 20 years to advance so far in the organization.

"She's very willing to step up and take a leadership role," Harrison said of Kunkel's character. "It's really, really hard for teenagers to do that. It takes a special person. She is one of the few Mound City students to take on a leadership role at the state level while still in high school. FCCLA is one of the few student organizations to allow high school students to take on leadership roles as high up as the national level."

Kunkel plans to "stay actively involved" in FCCLA for the rest of her high school career.

"Somewhere along the way, I fell in love with it," she said.

Prussman and Cox end season with big numbers

McKenzie Prussman and Emily Cox, students at South Holt R-1 in Oregon, MO, enjoyed a record-setting basketball season this year. Prussman was the single-season and career-assist leader; she tallied a season high of 177 assists, giving her a career total of 422. She also tied the record for most assists in a game with 12. From the 3-point arch, she became the career leader with 88 successful 3-pointers.

Cox was South Holt's all-time single-season scoring leader this year with 602 points. She claims the all-time career total with 1,502 points, as well. In addition, she set records in blocks with a season-high 86 blocks and a career-high 164.

The two basketball stars first learned to play ball back in the days of "Hoopsters" in elementary school; in these early years, they finetuned their skills by playing on traveling teams and school teams. Now, the two players who share a history and a foundation in the sport easily work in tandem, complementing each other on the court. Both have also received several post-season honors for their hard work.

Mound City senior named Area I Star in Agribusiness

The Missouri FFA Association recognized Thomas Shifflett of the Mound City FFA Chapter as Area 1 Star in Agribusiness at the 86th Missouri FFA Convention. Shifflett is the son of Russ and Beverly Shifflett of Mound City, MO. His advisor is Connor Dignan.

Area Stars in Agribusiness are selected based on outstanding achievement in agricultural business work experience as part of a student's Supervised Agricultural Experience (SAE) program and active participation in FFA. Area 1 includes 28 chapters in the Northwest District.

Shifflett's SAE began with his performing landscape duties for his neighbors. He provides mowing, trimming, weed control and snow removal services. He has since grown his business to more than 40 yards and three cemeteries.

Shifflett also runs a wildlife management SAE in which he traps raccoons, coyotes, bobcats, beavers and muskrats. He owns more than 200 traps that he uses over the course of every trapping season. He processes his own fur after catching the animals and sells them on the North American Fur trade market.

Shifflett serves as the Mound City Chapter FFA President. He was awarded second place at the area level for his Wildlife Management Proficiency last year, and he has competed in the livestock and farm management career development events.

Finally, Shifflett has been a member of the football, track and basketball teams. He has also been a class officer and a member of Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA), Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA), National Honor Society (NHS), student council and band. Shifflett is also a member of the Christian Fellowship Church and Mound City Rural Fire Department.

Shifflett plans to attend Northwest Missouri State University to major in business management and minor in accounting. After college he hopes to become a Missouri State Highway Patrolman or continue running his business.

The Missouri FFA has 25,852 members representing 334 chapters. The national organization has more than 579,000 members representing 7,570 local chapters in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

The FFA makes a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education.

MFA Inc., Columbia, sponsors the State Star in Agribusiness award as well as the area Star in Agribusiness awards.

Mound City R-2 senior wins MFA scholarship

Thomas Shifflett, a graduating senior at Mound City R-2, has won a $2,000 MFA Foundation scholarship. The scholarship, which is sponsored by MFA Oil and Propane in Mound City, MO, will be given at the school's awards assembly. MFA Incorporated, MFA Oil Company and their affiliates will present approximately 335 scholarships this year.

Shifflett is the son of Beverly and Russ Shifflett of Mound City, and he is planning to attend Northwest Missouri State University in Maryville, MO.

Mound City student among scholarship winners

Zach Kahle, a senior at Mound City R-2, was one of six students participating in the Iowa Western Community College Construction Technology Program who has earned a coveted scholarship for $1,000 for handiwork in and out of the classroom.

Joe Kueper, president of NeighborWorks Home Solutions, a nationwide inflill/affordable home building organization that provides housing opportunities for citizens in blighted neighborhoods, presented the scholarships at the Home Builders Scholarship Ceremony on Wednesday, April 23, at the college.

NeighborWorks Home Solutions secures vacant lots with less than desirable homes with a goal of revitalizing the area with energy efficient and affordable housing options. The company, which provides $20,000 to $30,000 move-in assistance for those applicants who qualify, also partners with the Council Bluffs Community Development Department in the inflill/affordable housing program. NeighborWorks provides the Construction Technology Department at Iowa Western with funding to build two residential homes as service learning projects, allowing students to apply all the building science they receive in the classrooms in a real-life application. In addition, the department is awarded $6,000 annually for scholarships.

Kahle will attend Northwest Missouri State University in Maryville, MO, next year to study business management.

MoDOT cautions motorists to be alert for slow-moving vehicles

With planting season in full swing, the Missouri Department of Transportation (MoDOT) wants to remind motorists to pay extra attention to drivers of farm equipment using and crossing state roadways.

"Spring planting time is a busy time of the year for Missouri's farm families, and MoDOT wants to make it a safe time of year, too," said MoDOT Director Dave Nichols. "Tractors, trucks and other farm equipment are slow moving, and motorists may be surprised when they come up behind one on a Missouri highway."

Missouri's 33,000 miles of state roadway pass alongside the fields of more than 100,000 farms throughout the state.

Motorists are advised to slow down when approaching farm vehicles and be patient as the farm vehicles travel to their field entrances. In passing zones, drivers should wait until it is safe and pass at a safe distance and speed.

Thank You

The Tally family would like to thank everyone for the love and kindness shown to our family during our recent loss of Lewis. We deeply appreciate the support from our friends, neighbors and extended family that provided us with delicious food, kind words, phone calls and texts. We would also like to thank everyone who sent thoughtful cards, beautiful flowers, memorial gifts and stones, as well as those who made donations in Lewis' memory. A special thank you goes out to the AsceraCare nurses and staff, especially Brooke, who took loving care of Lewis as well as Paul Grant and Alan Yocum who offered words of comfort and music. Also, many thanks go to Judith Long and Madison Davis of Pettijohn and Crawford for their kindness, support and guidance. ## Empire District Gas Company encourages one-call system

The Empire District Gas Company is encouraging customers to call to have the underground utilities located before they dig. Those planning on digging may call 811, the nationwide one-call system, or 800-DIG-RITE (800-344-7483), the Missouri one-call system.

The Empire District Gas Company and other local utilities provide the one-call system as a free service. Customers should note, however, that they must call at least three, but not more than 10, working days before they plan to dig. The utilities will mark the location of underground facilities so customers can steer clear, and avoid possible serious injuries and potentially expensive repair costs for damaged utilities.

Based in Joplin, MO, the Empire District Electric Company (NYSE:EDE) is an investor-owned, regulated utility that provides electricity, natural gas (through its wholly owned subsidiary The Empire District Gas Company) and water service. The company has approximately 215,000 customers in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. A subsidiary of the company provides fiber optic services.

For more information regarding Empire, please visit www.empiredistrict.com.
