Insult to Injury

Residents and business owners in the floodplain this summer have put up with just about everything and Mother Nature has thrown at them. However, for one business owner, things got a lot worse in the early morning hours of Wednesday, September 14.

Shortly after 3 a.m. Tuesday, the Holt County Sheriff’s Department received a call from a shop owner who said he had water all the way up to his windows. Upon his call, Deputy Pat Blasingame went to the business and opened the door to find a room full of water. The business was flooded.

Residents have been offered water bottles at various community centers and can receive a free bottle of water by picking up a voucher at the Mound City Library. The vouchers will be good for one bottle of water per person per hour until all are gone.

The fun starts with the pageant and cards and the Virgin Mary will be presented. The annual Great Northwest Cell in Mound City on Saturday, October 8th. The search for Missouri State Highway Patrol Trooper Fred Guthrie, Jr. continued near Big Lake, MO, by burglars sometime earlier in the summer have put up with just about everything and Mother Nature has thrown at them. However, for one business owner, things got a lot worse in the early morning hours of Wednesday, September 14.

In order to cut losses down, the police department has been working tirelessly to get the water out of the buildings and back on the streets.

While the water is still present, residents are being encouraged to come to school or work on appointment for the flu vaccine at 660-446-2959. Residents who have Medicare or Medicaid are asked to bring their cards with them so that those entities may be billed. Donations from other residents will be accepted.
Serious injuries in one-vehicle accident

Dear Editor,

I saw on the front page of the August 18 edition that DeeAnn Wallace had died in a one-vehicle accident. The article that was directed towards that particular person only. I do see some truly awesome neighbors which I would like to mention. We have a neighbor in our neighborhood, Shirley, who has been so helpful and a blessing. This world would be much happier for everyone if all neighbors would be like Shirley.

Sincerely, Sherryly Murphy

Route 136 Emergency Road Repair Contract awarded

Museums in Atchison County rest will be seeing road work being done on Route 136 to begin repairing damage from this summer’s flooding. The Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission awarded a contract to Lawrenceburg Excavating & Equipment Company, Inc., of Lawrenceburg, KS, in the amount of $33,670.50 for a 4.7 mile emergency repair project on a section of roadway that runs from Route D just west of Saco to Route D just west of Saco.

The first of several projects that will be necessary to restore access across Route 136 where four large gaps in the pavement exist due to summer flooding. The purpose of this first emergency repair project is to fill three of the four gaps, as well as other shoulder repair work. The target completion date for this project is October 15, and once complete, will open traffic to Route D and U. This is one of our most highly damaged routes from Missouri’s flooding, but we are working to get it open as quickly and safely as possible,” said Don Welcher, the Missouri Department of Transportation’s (MDOT’s) Northwest District engineer. “This is the first step.”

Community Hospital-Fairfax is prepared for action

As the weather turns, Atchison and Holt county residents are left appalled by damage to homes, communities, roads and bridge. While all are anxious to make repairs and return life normal, in doing so, new health concerns in the area make using caution a necessity.

Months of flooding have re- resulted in new health issues for the community Among these are new species moving into the county, mold and air quality issues and mosquito infestations. Community Hospital-Fairfax, MO (CHF), has educated its staff on these concerns and is ready to assist any patient that should present with complaints from any of these areas. CHF warns the public to suspect mold growth in any area touched by floodwater. Molds are the most common form of fungi found in nature and can grow on any material as long as moisture and oxygen are available. Molds can cause mild to severe health problems in sensitive individuals including: sneezing, runny nose, irritation cough, congestion, aggravation of asthma or dermatitis. Infants, children and the elderly are at the greatest health risk for problems attributed to mold. Consider a mask whenever entering any area where water has been.

All Atchison and Holt country residents should be prepared for additional insect and mosquito infestations. Wearing appropriate clothing, using insect repellent, avoiding the use of perfume and cologne when outdoors, inspecting clothing before and after return from outdoor excursions can help prevent bites. Some areas are tippler than others, always use caution while outdoors.

Contact 911 if you suspect you have been bitten by a bat. As a final reminder, everyone should avoid purchases at all costs. Not knowing what is in those bottles can make any contact extremely risky.

Coming off their loss to Francis Creek, the Panthers were on the lookout for a slow start, and they certainly got one. After the Panthers forced a punt, Shifflett returned the ball to the Stanberry 16, in Stanberry, MO. Anthony hired as new Conservation District supervisor.

Anthony Maupin has filled the Holt County Conservation District position when Agent Russ Shifflett moved to become Director of District Supervisor. Maupin assumed the duties of the September 1.

Anthony Maupin grew up around Stanberry. In his high school days he attended Southeast Missouri (SEMOC) in a baseball scholarship.

Anthony graduated from SEMOC with a bachelor’s and a master’s degree in wildlife biology. During that time, he worked as a grad¬ uate intern for a year with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Iowa Department of Natural Resources.

Anthony would also like to remind resi¬ dents that a Hunter Educator Course is being offered at Squaw Creek Wildlife Refuge near Mound City on October 11-13, from 9:30 to 9:00 p.m. On October 15-17, and the course can be completed online at www.mdc.mo.gov.

2011-2012 waterfowl season set to begin in October

The 2011-2012 waterfowl season is set to begin in northwest Missouri with various species of ducks, geese and raptors. Duck hunters and others may buy online and use right away for permits purchased from November 24 through January 15. Hunters may use e-Permits inside their paper e-Permits or online at www.mdc.mo.gov and print out for more information. The Missouri Department of Conservation’s (MDC’s) e-Permits program will help hunters avoid lines and delays, print and immediately use e-Permits on the day of purchase, and will allow hunters to store e-Permits in their cell phones. MDC e-Permits also provide a secure system to check harvests or tape work well for this viewing season dates and limits and it is not necessary to carry the Permit Power, a wind energy project, to secure funding following the flooding. The bridge was re-opened July 6, 2011, following two years of work updating the existing bridge. The project was necessary for funding and other resources from the Department of Transportation, the Missouri Department of Conservation, and the local community, such as the village of Fortescue and the town of Boonville. The bridge was awarded by the commission to report she has renewed interest in years of service. Commissioners reviewed the resolution to adopt the 2011-2012 Farm Bill Payment. Commissioner Gordon made a motion to adopt the resolution, which was seconded by Commissioner Biermann and passed. On Wednesday, August 16, 2011, at 9:00 a.m., the Holt County Emergency Management Division of September. Salary and renewal options. Commissioner Gordon is the only permit that is currently being offered. Hunters may use the H-Permit, which allows them to use all Missouri sport-hunting, fishing, and sport-fishing permits, from noon on Friday, December 23, through noon on February 28. The H-Permit allows them to use all Missouri sport-hunting, fishing, and sport-fishing permits, from noon on Friday, December 23, through noon on February 28. Aftermath of 90-day flood rears its ugly head Water still rolled over Highway 111—Toward Big Lake, MO, as Missouri Department of Transportation (MoDOT) employees worked on Thursday, September 15, to remove three-foot deep sand that had accumulated on the highway during the past three months of flooding. The sand covered the highway for approximately an hundred yards. The sand was being scraped off and piled up on either side of the highway to be hauled away at a later date. The removal of the sand allows limited access (via pickup truck) to residents of Big Lake and Big Lake-State Park employees. The irrigation systems, that are partially shown in the above picture on both the east and west sides of the highway, have been rolled in by sand to midwheel.

Community Facilities Program available through USDA Rural Development

Community facilities are essential to the quality of life in any rural community. USDA Rural Development, through the Community Facilities Program, provides funds and technical assistance to help communities meet the basic needs of its citizens, as well as build stronger, more vibrant communities.

Examples of what the funds can be used for include: To construct, enlarge, or improve community facilities such as health care (clinics, ambulatory care centers, hospitals, rehabilitation centers and nursing homes); public safety (communication centers, police and fire stations, fire trucks, rescue vehicles, fire and rescue equipment and suits); and public services (sheltered workshops, community centers and buildings, airports and public service, city/municipal vehicles and equipment, warning systems, and libraries). This can include costs to acquire land for a facility, pay professional fees, or purchase operating equipment. Community facilities’ assistance can be by direct loans, grants, or guarantees through a conventional lender to improve community facilities providing essential services in rural areas and towns with a population of 20,000 or less. These funds are available to public entities such as municipalities, counties, special purpose districts, and non-profit corporations which meet specific criteria.

For specific areas of interest concerning eligibility criteria; requirements for grants; loans or guarantees; and terms of the financing; interested parties are encouraged to visit with a USDA representative.

Anyone seeking more information about community facilities’ financing or any other USDA Rural Development program may visit the home page at http://www.rd.usda.gov, or by visiting the office at 652 West 26th Street, Hills Ferry, Maryville, MO 64468 or by calling (660) 582-7421, extension 4.

Mound City natives write for Kansas State Collegian

Monty Thompson, 2008 Mound City graduate, has made his mark in Manhattan, KS, as a journalist with shady hate.

Monty has been a Kansas Wildcat fan since he was a young boy, growing up as a house where his mom and dad liked purple as K-State fans, too. When he began attending K-State basketball games, Monty claimed the same front row seat every time, sometimes waiting for hours, like as 14 hours in one instance for tickets. “I’ve dedicated myself to being there,” Monty stated about sitting front and center for all home games. “The view is better and now I’ve become known as the crazy guy that sits on the front row.”

Monty, a senior at K-State, switched from being a computer engineering student to a broadcast journalism student in the first week of classes. Last year, Monty was required to write pieces for the Kansas State Collegian. His instructor deemed Monty’s work worthy of publishing, and since that time, Monty has been the sports editor. Through time-consuming and stressful, Monty has enjoyed getting published.

“I’ve been told I’m probably a better writer than speaker,” stated Monty about the position. “But I really like to talk and hope to get more heavily involved in broadcast journalism.” Monty has his foot in the door at K-State in that capacity as well. He is the assistant sports director at 93.9 The Wildcat radio station, where he announces sporting events, as well as doing some play-by-play, and working as a color analyst. He also functions in various roles on a weekly newscast, often times as the sports anchor for Manhattan Matters. Channel’s TV News is student TV station.

Monty enjoys the many aspects of broadcasting K-State sports. He hopes his experiences will help open doors for him after he graduates.

After graduation, Monty ideally would like to work sports for a local small channel, doing broadcasting. He knows it takes time to move up in the business, and will be ready to sit in the front row, watching for opportunities.
